LewisGale Hospital at Pulaski (formerly Pulaski Community Hospital) has 147 beds and provides inpatient medical and surgical services, outpatient surgery, intensive care services, full service cancer care, diagnostic imaging with CT, MRI, nuclear medicine and ultrasound. The hospital also has an 8 bed Birthing Center. Community education and support groups are also available.

Medical care and surgical care unit is a 57-bed general medical, emergency medical services, intensive care, surgical, cancer care, radiology and imaging, telemetry, respiratory care, rehabilitation and pediatric unit. The unit provides comprehensive nursing to those patients requiring general medical, pre and post operative care, urology, orthopedic, cardiac and pediatric care.

The Intensive Care Unit (ICU) at Pulaski Community Hospital is an 8-bed unit. The ICU is designed to meet the needs of patients requiring critical care monitoring and medical treatment. It combines advanced technology with specialized nursing and medical care to provide intensive care for critically ill and potentially critically ill patients. Each of the beds is equipped with monitors to provide invasive and non-invasive cardiopulmonary monitoring of patients.
