Region Ten Community Services Board offers Child and Adolescent Prevention Services. These services, delivered in the community and schools, are designed to educate, inform and prevent children and adolescents from engaging in risk-taking behaviors. The program targets behaviors such as substance use, violence, teen pregnancy and dropping out of school for children ages five to eighteen. Services are delivered through prevention and intervention counseling, classroom presentations, small group psycho-education, community in-services, development and mentoring of youth organizations and parent meetings.

To access Prevention Services in the local school, please contact your school's Student Assistance Program Coordinator:
