Commonwealth Counseling Associates (CCA) offers a broad range of treatment services that are tailored to each client's needs. Starting with CCA Patient Managers, new clients are matched to clinicians based on their unique needs and circumstances. Clinicians provide a variety of resources that range from psychological and neuropsychological testing to psychotherapy for individuals, couples and families. Clinicians provide the healing, support and reinforcement necessary for clients to achieve their full potential as individuals, partners or family members.

In some cases, a combination of psychotherapy and medication treatment may be more beneficial than either one alone. If a client's needs are best served by incorporating medication into their treatment, their clinician will arrange an appointment with one of CCA's psychiatrists who will serve as the medication consultant.
